

Making further consolidation of media ownership possible is a bad idea which ill serves the needs of the public. More diversity in ownership is badly needed, enen under the present rules.